THE FULLNESS OF THE HOLY SPIRIT

The church wakes up to an amazing message this morning. Look around and see who has been called. Listen to the voices of those who proclaim Jesus is Lord. You'll find no race of people left out; you'll find no language on earth unfit to proclaim the glory of God. We call Pentecost Sunday the "birthday of the church." In many ways, the church is still being born. Only when we all know the peace Jesus offered in today's Gospel will we really know the fullness of the Holy Spirit.

St. Paul assures us in today's second reading that "all of us have been given to drink of the one Spirit." When we look around us in the church we should see everyone. But we don't. Not yet. What is holding us back from fully embracing the one Body of Christ? When will we see our differences as manifestations of the same Holy Spirit? Copyright (c) J. S. Paluch Co.

COME, HOLY SPIRIT!

Reconciled diversity illumines Pentecost and fills this Jubilee Year of Mercy. Locked doors fly open as Pentecost's Spirit sends forth once-frightened disciples to share Jesus' gospel in countless languages, uniting crowds of divergent--sometimes hostile--nationalities into one newborn community filled with peace. Paul exhorts the Corinthians, and us, to celebrate our differences, for gifts of the same Spirit build our diversity into Jesus' one body. Paul bids the Romans, and us, to embrace life bestowed by "the Spirit of adoption, through whom we cry, 'Abba, Father!' " In today's traditional Gospel, Jesus sends forth previously frightened disciples, and us, to love others as Jesus loves us. So Pope Francis sees Pentecost's Spirit, in this Jubilee Year of Mercy, summoning us afresh from past mediocrity and selfish isolation to share God's mercy enthusiastically and generously. The alternative Gospel declares keeping Jesus' commandments not a mindless obligation but a loving choice, closing Easter Time with Jesus' enduring promise of the Pentecost Spirit's abiding presence: that Spirit "will teach you everything and remind you of all I told you." Question for Children: God fills us with love. How, this week, will you show your family - your mom, dad, brothers, sisters, grandparents, cousins - that you love them as God loves them?

Question for Youth: When Jesus left the world, He sent the Holy Spirit to be with us. Have you ever given something important to someone else as a sign of your love for them? Have you ever experienced the Holy Spirit as a similar gift to you?

Question for Adults: Today we celebrate the relationship of love among the Father, the Son and the Holy Spirit. In what similar community of love do you live?

Priesthood Vocation Discernment Meeting

© J.S. Paluch Co., Inc.

“Lord, How are You calling Me to Follow You?”

God created each one of us for a particular calling as a way to follow Him. Through the Sacrament of Baptism we become a child of God and thus we are called to live in holiness through the love of God and neighbor! It is important to remember that our true vocation does not come from the world, or from ourselves, but rather an invitation directly from God to follow Him!

If you are interested in learning more about a vocation to the priesthood, join Rev. Msgr. Ralph Stansley for this month's discernment meeting, Sunday, May 22, 2016, at Our Lady of Good Counsel, 137 Upper Ferry Road, West Trenton, N.J. from 4:00 pm – 6:00 pm, as he shares his experiences of the priesthood, and leads a discussion about discernment and vocations.

For further information and to register, please contact the Diocese of Trenton Office of Vocations at vocations@dioceseoftrenton.org or by calling (609) 406-7449. It would be great to see you and hear how the Lord is working in your life!

Spiritual Adoption Week 36

Can you believe it? Only one more month to go! I have gained a half of a pound, but I am still about the same length as last week. That is because I need to start saving my energy for my birth. Speaking of my birth, my bones and cartilage are soft and my skull is not fused. My mom will be happy to know that this will make me flexible for my delivery. I am practicing breathing water into my lungs. This exercises my lungs and stimulates the production of a protein named surfactant that will prevent my lungs from sticking together.

Thank you, my loving God, for taking care of our every need. Thank you for your continued prayers.

Quo vadis...

My Dear Parishioners:

Today we celebrate the Solemnity of Pentecost. By this indwelling of the Holy Spirit we ourselves become advocates of God's presence for others. This gift of the Spirit, then, makes its demands on us. We must monitor the way we live so that others truly see us as advocates of God's presence bringing new life. This new life that we share with others might be so simple as a reassuring touch or helping hand. It might be so great as making a sacrifice of time to join the parish choir or volunteer for some task that needs to be done for the good of all. At any rate, living the paschal mystery means that we bask in the good gift of God's life that the Spirit brings. Living the paschal mystery means also that this good gift has its cost—we still must die to ourselves in order to be the true presence of Christ for others.

Pentecost marks the 50th day and conclusion of the Easter Season. It is the fulfillment of God's covenant with those born again through Sacramental Initiation of Baptism, Confirmation, Eucharist to be with us always until the end of time. It is this Spirit that prompts us to continue to move forward and bring others to Christ. It is this Spirit that sustains us when we address the difficult circumstances in our lives. We begin the Liturgical Season of Ordinary Time this coming Monday. However, the next two Sundays are Solemnities of the Lord: Trinity Sunday and Corpus Christi. We will return our liturgical environment to a more appropriate style for the Liturgical Season of Ordinary Time which concludes during the month of November with the Solemnity of Jesus Christ, King of the Universe.

Welcome to our candidates for First Holy Communion, their families and friends. This is a great time of celebration for them and for our entire parish community. Many thanks to all those who have helped to form and inform them in preparation for this day. We continue to register and re-register children for our Parish Religious Education Programs. Summer Intensive registration ends this month. Registration for the Fall programs has begun. Please register this week to greatly assist us in providing for the needs of our participants.

Many thanks to all those who helped to prepare our Parish May Crowning. I had an opportunity to visit with participants in the WALKING WITH PURPOSE formation program. I am grateful to all those who participate and to those who facilitate this wonderful program to assist the ladies of our parish in learning about their faith and sharing faith with one another. To all those who wore some type of red garment this weekend, Thank You for helping us to decorate the church for this Solemnity of Pentecost. Let us continue to pray for an outpouring of the Holy Spirit on our parish community as we strive to build the church in our midst. Have a great week. Let us remember one another in prayer. Happy Sunday. Peace. Father Jeff
